Mission Information

History

In the months following the devastating blow of Hurricane Katrina (August 29, 2005), CrossRoads Missions set out to be the hands and feet of Jesus Christ to the hurting people of the greater New Orleans area. Initially, our work began in East NO and Chalmette, LA with gutting houses and clearing roadways and lots. Since then, our work with local partners have allowed us to build new homes, repair and renovate existing homes for local residents, assist in community outreach programs, and provide a platform for sharing the love of Christ with the local people.

People We Serve

New Orleans is a proud and culturally diverse town. The people are close knit, family oriented and very laid back – hence the city's nick name "The Big Easy". They have a rich heritage that includes everything from food to music, and religious beliefs to celebrations.

Purpose

Seeking to glorify Christ in word and deed, CrossRoads Missions is actively involved in a variety of ministry opportunities in New Orleans. Through an example of community, worship and service, participants work together as the body of Christ to display a testimony of the love of our Savior. Ongoing projects include the renovation of homes that were damaged by Katrina and other hurricanes since, the assistance to inner city ministries and church plants in fulfilling their goals of outreach, and the participation in summer children's programs.
